Join us to celebrate the renaming and dedication of the former Providence Community Center as the "Jim Scott Community Center."

James M. "Jim" Scott, was a dedicated and respected public servant. First elected to the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors in 1971, Jim served as Providence District Supervisor for 14 years and then represented Fairfax County in the Virginia House of Delegates for 22 years.

During his decades of service in local and state government, Jim was a strong advocate of affordable housing, education and school-based child care centers, and civil rights. Rep. Gerald E. Connolly, former Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, credited Jim as a "gentle but forceful advocate for all who feel powerless."
