10

Par 4

Long hitters be aware that the water comes into play sooner than you think. The long second shot to this well protected green is considered one of the most challenging on the course.

11

Par 4

Play your tee shot to a comfortable approach distance on this short par 4. There are bunkers short and right, OB left and trees everywhere.

12

Par 3

The prevailing right to left wind will try to push your tee shot into the bunkers on the left, so aim a little right. With little or no wind this is a very accessible short par three.

13

Par 4

A challenging driving hole. The perfect tee shot is down the left side. The long narrow green and the slight downhill approach makes proper club selection critical for the second shot.

14

Par 5

This long uphill par 5 is a definite three shot hole. Favor the right side of the fairway off the tee. On your second shot hitting one more club and favoring the left side of the fairway is a good strategy. Try to leave yourself your ideal yardage for your third shot.

15

Par 3

On a typical day you will get some help from the wind on this long par 3. If the wind is in your face....good luck. The green is long and has a severe right to left break.

16

Par 4

One of the prettiest holes on the course. Aim down the right side of the fairway. A miss left will most likely end up in the bunkers or worse, as the fairway slopes in that direction.

17

Par 4

To have a reasonable chance at a birdie, you must hit the fairway on this short par 4. From there, the green is very accessible. A missed approach left or long can derail a good round.

18

Par 5

A great finishing hole. The fairway is well protected by the trees left and the water right. The second shot should favor the right side which will open up the green for the approach.

Attest:

1
Par 5  Hit your tee shot down the left side of the fairway. The trees on the right will certainly cost you a stroke and the fairway slopes in that direction. The second shot needs to be precise, from this side of the creek you only have 150 yards to the green.

2
Par 4  Playing from the correct tees is paramount on this tee shot. From the white marker you have a forced carry of almost 200 yards. The uphill second shot will require at least one extra club.

3
Par 4  Length is not as important as accuracy on this short par four. This approach is also uphill to a very narrow green front to back so distance control is more important than direction.

4
Par 4  Aim down the right side unless you have the length to clear the bunker. Left of the bunker is rough and your approach may be blocked by the trees. The green slopes severely from back to front.

5
Par 3  This well protected tee can be misleading. The wind can be stronger than it feels.

6
Par 4  Precision is more important than length. Favor the left side of the fairway. A far right hole location will be blocked from the right. Missing long on your approach will almost certainly cost you a shot.

7
Par 4  OB left and woods right demands accuracy off the tee. The approach is downhill and will play at least one club shorter than the yardage.

8
Par 3  When the hole is on the left, this is a simple par three. When the hole is on the right, it is one of the most difficult placements on the course.

9
Par 4  If there is a tailwind on this hole, long hitters can let it fly. The approach is slightly uphill but very straightforward to this large, deep green. A definite birdie hole.
